

On the night of the New-York Historical Society Gala at the Waldorf Astoria presenting an award to Henry Kissinger, a coalition of groups demonstrated outside. Meanwhile, an intrepid trio of War Resisters, decked out in a tux and evening wear, went inside and were able to get this program into the hands of dozens of attendees. Outside the swells were loath to take anything from the protesters. Inside, they grabbed away at the "programs" until the three were discovered and escorted out.
