

A new documentary on Condoleezza Rice, "American Faust: From Condi to Neo-Condi," will soon be released. Incisive and shocking, the film overturns the popular misconception of Rice as a yes-woman to President Bush to reveal her as his most enduring confidante and thus responsible for much of the Bush legacy. The film follows her step-by-step quest for power, culminating in the ultimate move that put her in the position to order and approve some of the most horrific torture techniques used by the CIA. The director/producer, Sebastian Duggart, has a background in journalism having begun his career as a journalist in Latin America, working first as Co-Editor of the Lima Times and then as Economics Editor for the Buenos Aires Herald.
